Dietz & Company Architects, Inc. Honored with ACCGS Super 60 Award for Growth

Springfield, Mass. – Dietz & Company Architects, Inc. has been honored with a 2011 Super 60 Award for Growth by ACCGS, the Affiliated Chambers of Commerce of Greater Springfield, Inc. This award is presented annually to the top businesses in the region which contribute to the strength of the regional economy in a significant way.

One noteworthy regional accomplishment this year was the opening of LEED Gold Certified Phase II of the YWCA of Western Massachusetts to provide housing that will serve to transition women from domestic violence shelters to permanent housing. The firm is also working on The Caring Health Center which provides community-controlled healthcare services including primary and preventive care, as well as many clinical services and health education. The Center has experienced dramatic growth and now services over 22,000 individuals in the greater Springfield area.

Dietz & Company Architects, Inc., one of the largest full-service firms in western Massachusetts, is a woman-owned business that opened its doors in 1985. The firm's areas of practice include housing, educational institutions, historic renovations, sustainability, commercial projects and healthcare facilities.
